VVIP Visit – Visit to Renkoji Temple

Kindly refer to your fax and tele-conversation with DCM on the subject.

2. The Japanese Protocol was informed of the idea. Our security team visited the Temple this afternoon.
3. Your observations that the VVIP would see the bust of Netaji, sign the book and meet the Chief Priest have been noted and conveyed to the Temple. The Temple has kindly agreed to conclude this in the allotted 10 minutes. You may kindly note that the ashes are in the Main Prayer Hall (up-stairs).
4. The Temple was established in 1594, inspired by the God of Wealth and Happiness. It belongs to the Nichiren Sect of Buddhism. It teaches that human salvation lay only in the Lotus Sutra.
5. The ashes reached the Temple on 18th September 1945. Although ashes are normally brought to temples only for the purpose of the funeral ceremony, Rev. Mochizuki, father of the present Chief Priest of the Temple, had kindly agreed to keep them in safe custody.

PL. make a photocopy & alongwith this copy, keep in new 'secret' file on Netaji.

Dear Sir,

Reference is made to the forthcoming VVIP visit.

2. Attached herewith are the participation lists for all functions including the functions on December 9, 2001. Only those details required by the Japanese side may be conveyed suitably. Carcade for the last two functions is also attached with this message. Grateful if cars are labeled as per names indicated in our carcade plan to avoid confusion on arrival and departure.

3. Separately, responses on the additional questions raised in the various messages received today are as follows.

- Call by the President of Soka Gakkai. The call may be accepted for the period 1830 hrs - 1850 hrs on December 9, 2001 at Room 1432. Grateful recommend that the time is confirmed and the names of those accompanying New India.
- Visit to Runkup Temple. The temple is located where the ashes of the late Netaji Subhas Chandra Bose are placed. It is located near the Hotel. It has been recommended that VVIP should visit this site for ten minutes between 1730 hrs and 1740 hrs. VVIP's approval is being ascertained. However, in the interim, the Japanese side may be alerted to this possibility. For this visit, a very limited participation is envisaged. Grateful for a response on the Japanese side. It is also requested that the text of the inscriptions made by previous Indian dignitaries from Pt. Nehru onwards, who have apparently visited this site, may be obtained.

- iii. Meeting with businessmen on 9 December. The room and the format suggested by our Mission for the first half of the programme seems acceptable (i.e. a round-table format).
- iv. Sound bite at the release of the Joint Declaration. As recommended by our Mission, this may be accepted.

3. Details of dietary preferences and grades (for payment of DA) have been sent earlier this evening. It is presumed that all information required is now available

With respectful regards,

Yours sincerely,

 (Vikram K. Deraiswami)
